LANDPOD CAMPING CLUB

Who is Landpod Camping Club?

Natural England along with the Scottish and Welsh Government have granted Landpod Camping Club a license to certify suitable land with an exemption. This certificate (subject to survey) allows your proposed site to be certificated for a 12- month period, enabling the recreational exclusive use of Landpod Products earning you an income.

What is an Exemption Certificate?

This certification provides an excellent opportunity to generate an income from your land by offering an exclusive glamping experience. Additionally, it could serve as valuable evidence of success if pursuing a more permanent planning application in the future.

What will happen next?

While our exemption certification eliminates the need for an application to the local Planning Authority or National Park, we do inform them during the survey process to request their comments. They have a 28-day notice period to respond, and if no response is received, we move forward with Stage 3. When completing the application form, please provide detailed information about the accommodation you plan to have on-site. Our certified sites are committed to maintaining their aesthetic integrity and ensuring they do not resemble a typical camping menagerie. These standards will be upheld throughout the certification period, in line with the clubs Constitution and Code of Conduct.
